KAHANAMOKU HERE FOR SWIMMING RACES TO-NIGHT

Hawaiian Star to Compete Almost Daily Until Aug. 17 in This Vicinity.

Honolulu's famous swimmers, Duke Kahanamoku, Harold Kruger and Clarence Lane, have arrived and will remain here until Aug. 17, competing almost daily in water carnivals to be held in or near New York. Their first appearance will be in the Brighton Winter Pool this evening. They will compete in races and diving events with some of the local stars.

The Duke will swim 220 yards against W. L. Wallen of Chicago, the half-mile national title holder. Lane will meet Leo Giebel of the New York A. C. at 100 yards. Kruger, the backstroke marvel, will swim the backstroke against his rivals, who will swim free style.

Tait will perform from the diving platform. The charges lodged against the visitors for alleged padding of expense accounts will be threshed out to-day by Fred W. Ruben of the A. A. U. and Owen Merrick, the swimmer's manager, but there is no doubt that they are totally unfounded.

Merrick, when questioned on the subject, promptly produced the statement of receipts and expenditures he is ready to submit to the local authorities, and it furnishes convincing proof that the amateur laws have been complied with throughout the tour.

The fifteen events which will make up the programme of the annual Metropolitan Association A. A. U. senior outdoor track and field championship meet have been announced by Jake W. Stumpf, Chairman of the local association's Championship Committee. The title tests this year will be run off Aug. 25 under the auspices of the Singer Employees' Association at the Metropolitan A. A. U. grounds in the Bronx. The entry blanks for the meet will be issued within a few days.

The events are: 100 yard dash, 220 yard dash, 440 yard run, 880 yard run, one mile run, three mile walk, five mile run, 200 yard hurdle race, running broad jump, running high jump, throwing the javelin, throwing the discus, running hop, step and jump, putting the 8-pound shot and throwing the 56-pound weight for distance.

Dates for eight National Amateur Athletic Union swimming championships are announced to-day by Frederick W. Ruben, Chairman of the A. A. U. Championship Committee. The first title race will be run off Aug. 19 at the Metropolitan A. A. U. grounds in the Bronx. The first title race will be run off Aug. 19 at the Metropolitan A. A. U. grounds in the Bronx. Sun Briar's Mile in 1.36 1-5 Makes Him Comparable to Great Salvator.

Copyright, 1918, by The Press Publishing Co. (The New York Evening World).

ARE they ever going to stop making records in Saratoga? Sun Briar's mile in 1.36 1-5 yesterday is the most recent. Billy Meyer, known as the Stretcher Cyclone in his prize fighting days before he took to race track construction, has certainly succeeded in making the Spa's course cynically fast. Either that or the official timer is keeping time with his feet. The day is lost there when some kind of a new track record isn't hung up. Sun Briar's 1.36 1-5, incidentally, is about the nearest thing to Salvator's famous mile in 1.35 that has been recorded in about twenty years. By many it will be considered a better performance, inasmuch as it was made around two turns, while Salvator ran his famous race against the clock on the straightaway. The performance of Sun Briar is particularly gratifying because it indicates that the champion of last year's two-year-olds has come back to his best form.

SUN BRIAR retired last season as the finest of three-year-old prospects, and when he went to Kentucky this spring to start in the Derby he was regarded as almost a certainty to win the Blue Grass classic. He performed miserably, and immediately all kinds of excuses were made for him. The principal one was that he simply wasn't a route traveler. It was remembered that his sire, Sun Ridge, had been about the best mile horse in England, but never cared for a step over the eight furlongs. Another excuse was that the promising colt was a "late" horse, one of those which doesn't come to hand until the fall end of the season, and still another ascribed his Kentucky failure to ringbones, an ailment from which the colt was supposed to suffer as a two-year-old. Sun Briar ran two races after coming back from Kentucky, but showed nothing of what was to be expected of him. It wasn't until last week at the Spa that he ran his race. This was a good second to Polymelion's record-breaking six furlong victory. That performance was enough to convince the casual observer that Sun Briar hadn't gone to the dogs. His race yesterday brings him back to the limelight of the racing firmament, and continues to improve his name is likely to replace that of the famous Salvator, a horse which the whole world associates with everything that means speed and stamina in thoroughbred. Instead of how "Salvator won," the legendary tour song may be changed to "How Sun Briar won."

BAN JOHNSON had it right. John K. Tener has resigned as President of the National League. In view of the talk that the ball parks may not open again after they close this fall, until Joe Brady and fellows like him have chased the Germans out of breath, there probably won't be any wild scramble for Tener's job. If, however, the club owners feel that they must elect a new President, they shouldn't look beyond John Heydler, the efficient Secretary of the league. Heydler knows baseball from A to Z. He really does the work of the job and has been doing it since Tom Lynch's time. Heydler is a quiet, unassuming fellow, but that doesn't mean he isn't qualified to fill the position, unless it be our old friend, John B. Foster, Secretary of the Giants.

EVERYBODY'S doing it, so why not let Jimmy DeForest join the chorus of those who are singing the praises of Jack Dempsey. DeForest has seen 'em all, and none should be more competent to judge. Says Jimmy:

"I have been intimately connected with the boxing game for some thirty odd consecutive years, during which time I have witnessed all the champions and near champions come and go with consistent regularity. Some have been flashes in the pan, others the real goods, but this fellow Dempsey has come to stay. He is easily the best heavyweight now appearing before the boxing public, but that statistic does little or no justice to him. The point I want to make is that Dempsey ranks, in my opinion, with the stars of the real line who have competed in the heavyweight division."

Dempsey possesses many of the traits of the old timers which seldom appear in the make-up of our modern fighters. To him it is pleasure, for he just simply loves to fight. This fact is best illustrated by the way he prepares in training for an engagement. He fights then just as if he were in the ring battling for the championship. His sparring partners have to be on the alert at all times, and are permitted to sail into him to the best of their ability.

"The fans have yet to see Dempsey at his best. His engagement with Fulton Grayson in New York, just wait until some man stages him—then you will see the greatest fighting machine of modern times in action."

"Yes, Dempsey has come to stay. He is the greatest piece of fighting machinery I have seen for many years."

Sun Briar's Mile Record Is Made Under Restraint; Might Have Equalled 1.35

Champion of Last Season's Two-Year-Olds Runs Eight Furlongs in 1.36 1-5 in Sensational Manner—Race With His Only Rival, Roamer, Might Result in New World's Record.

(Special to The Evening World.)

SARATOGA SPRINGS, Aug. 7.

UNDER a stout pull, with his neck and head forming an arch, no strong was the restraint on the reins. Sun Briar ran the mile course at the Saratoga track in 1.36 1-5, establishing a world's record for the distance around turns. It will be well to bear in mind how the champion of 1917 made memorable his first victory this year. His brilliant speed caused a sensation among the $500 racegoers, but the easy way he won the Delaware Handicap fairly astounded the crowd.

It was the opinion of the trainers that if he had been forced to travel at his best speed he would have approached the 1.35 mark hung up by Salvator over the straight course at Monmouth Park. When Sun Briar stepped out on the track for his great fight of speed just three horses in America and England had raced a mile faster than 1.37 1-6, the track record made by Corn Tassel Monday. These were Salvator, Calman and Amaul.

The first two horses made these records over straightaway courses. Calman, at Longford, England, in 1900, carried 128 pounds in 1.33 1-5. Calman was by Locohatchee and was bred at the Hancock stud, owned by the late Pierre Lorillard, located at Jobston, N. J. Amaul, with 107 pounds up, on the trotting track at Syracuse on Sept. 3, 1914, ran the mile around four turns in 1.36 1-5. It will be seen by these records that Sun Briar's performance is a world mark at a mile around turns, his only two rivals, Calman and Amaul, being beaten by him. He was favored by straight courses. The son of Sun Bridge, Sweet Briar, carried 113 pounds, which was three pounds below the weight for race scale at this period of the season. Sun Briar's return to form speaks well for the patience and skill of his trainer, Henry McDaniel.

Last season this colt headed the list of two-year-old winners, with $60,000 to his credit. He won three stakes here, the Albany Handicap, the Saratoga Special and the Hopeful, the latter being worth $30,000. He was the winter favorite for the Kentucky Derby, but his trouble of beating him out because they were favored by straight courses. The son of Sun Bridge, Sweet Briar, carried 113 pounds, which was three pounds below the weight for race scale at this period of the season. Sun Briar's return to form speaks well for the patience and skill of his trainer, Henry McDaniel.

On Friday last Sun Briar showed his trainer that he was coming back. In a race he broke his neck, but he could not make them but like bones they would no longer hurt.

Fistic News and Gossip

By John Pollock

Champion Benny Leonard, who has done more than his share for the Government by appearing at boxing benefits all over the country, will take part in another one of the patriotic affairs at Chicago on Saturday afternoon. Benny, through his manager, Billy Gibson, to-day agreed to take on some good Western lightweight for four rounds at the boxing show for the Salvation Army fund, which is slated to be brought off at the White Sox Baseball Park in the above named city. Leonard and Gibson will leave for Chicago on Friday morning. This will be the first time in nearly twenty years that boxing bouts have been allowed by the authorities in Chicago.

Pal Moore, the Monahan bantamweight, who fought Frankie Burns and Jack Shaver, the good looking, in eight-round bouts in Jersey City with a few weeks ago, left for the first time, training station at Chicago. Pal was allowed a furlough of only six days. He would like to get on a return ticket with Burns.

Johnny Griffith, the crack welterweight of Alameda, O., who is now fighting for the management of Tommy Walsh and Nate Lewis, the well known fight promoters and managers of fighters of Chicago, has been matched by Lewis to meet Ray Long, the promising welterweight of Kansas City, in twelve rounds at Joplin, Mo., on next Friday night. Griffith is now in the army, but manages to get off to his opponents.

With Frank O'Brien engaged as the official referee of the National A. C. of Philadelphia, the prospects are that Johnny Eckhart, the veteran referee, will be secured by Harry Edwards, owner of the Olympic A. A. of that city, to do all the refereeing at the club's shows in the future. O'Brien was the official referee at the Olympics for a long time but he was compelled to resign from that duty on account of his connections with the National A. C.

The proved return battle between those two colored heavyweights, Joe Jeannotte of Hoboken, N. J., and Kid Norfolk of Texas is not likely to be held for at least two or three weeks, as Norfolk has gone back to his home at Baltimore for a rest. Both the New Jersey Exhibition Company and the Army A. A. of Jersey City are after the bout.

Ted Lewis, the welterweight champion, today signed his first set of articles of agreement for a fight as his own manager. He affixed his signature to the papers calling for him to meet Tommy Robson, the hard hitting middleweight of Malden, Mass., in a twelve round, decision bout, at the Army A. A. of Boston, on Tuesday night. Although Robson can take more punishment, being successful in having Mack take part in two battles, left the Chicago last night to join Nate Lewis to stage the big benefit boxing show in Chicago on Saturday afternoon.

Johnny Dundee, after a battle of several weeks, is ready for an active ring campaign. He will start operations at the Army A. A. of Jersey City next Monday night with Lew Carroll as his opponent. Carroll, a Newark kid, is a well known fighter, and Dundee is expected to win the decision for him.

Tommy Walsh of Chicago, who came home a few weeks ago for the purpose of getting on boats for his two fights, left Moore the Monahan bantamweight, and Eddie McCreary, the welterweight, and being successful in having Mack take part in two battles, left the Chicago last night to join Nate Lewis to stage the big benefit boxing show in Chicago on Saturday afternoon.

NOT IMPROBABLE THAT BAN WILL FOLLOW TENER'S LEAD

By Hugh S. Fullerton.

Copyright, 1918, by The Press Publishing Co. (The New York Evening World).

JOHN K. TENER has taken the only step consistent with dignity and has resigned as President of the National League. Deserted by a portion of the club owners, his advice disregarded and his authority in a way defied, Gov. Tener, without comment, resigned yesterday afternoon, and asked the club presidents to elect his successor who could serve on the National Commission.

There is no intimation from Chicago that Byron B. Johnson will follow TENER's lead and resign from the Presidency of the American League, but such a course is not improbable, and that three of the club owners have openly defied and attacked Johnson.

Tener resigned from the Presidency of the National League last winter. He was requested to stick with the league and try to straighten out its tangled affairs and he agreed. The reason alleged for his resignation last winter was that he was pressed for time to attend to his other business and could not devote as much time to baseball as he deemed necessary. But even then it was known that there was a strong opposition to Tener in his own league. The Scott Perry case, which caused Tener to refuse to sit on the National Commission with Ban Johnson, brought the troubles of the league to a climax. While compelled to back up Tener as far as surface indications were concerned, it is known that some of the club owners criticised him bitterly on the ground that his act was untimely, and some scored him for the decision itself.

Tener's stand on Secretary Baker's work-or-fight order was the final blow. Tener believed that the only dignified and proper thing for the league to do was to shut up shop and adhere strictly to the spirit and letter of Secretary Baker's order. Some of the club owners, led by Garry Herrmann, President of the Cincinnati club and Chairman of the National Commission, were in open revolt and refused to listen to advice.

It is probable that a bare majority of the National club owners would have stuck to Tener, but his position was, to say the least, embarrassing. His last winter's resignation could have been dug up and accepted if his enemies could have gained a majority and they have been talking of doing just that thing. Besides, Mr. Tener is a man of honor and a gentleman. He resigned in a dignified and courteous manner, giving the owners every chance to select his successor. That successor in all probability will be Jack Heydler, who has served the league long and faithfully. Heydler might refuse to accept because of his known loyalty to Tener, but he is the right man. The danger would then be that the league would name him temporarily, then elect some one else next winter, as it did before. Brown of Louisville, a perennial candidate and a fine fellow, with the curse of Garry Herrmann's support upon his candidacy, has been mentioned as a possible successor, and the name of Joe O'Brien also is mentioned.

FROM the American League camp comes the story that Ban Johnson is to be forced out if he does not resign. Comiskey, Frazee and Griffith are up in arms against Johnson, although the chances are that Comiskey would not be implicated in any effort to fire Johnson.

It is declared that Clark Griffith has been selected to succeed Johnson, which is a joke.

Now Clark Griffith is my pal, and has been for twenty years, and Mr. Johnson and I never could get along. Set in this case Mr. Johnson beyond doubt is right and has been right all along, and Griffith has been the big single figure in the amazing blunder which wrecked baseball.

I am informed that Johnson was in Washington, that two of the big Western statesmen were engaged in presenting the claims of baseball to the Government and that they expected that the game would be permitted to continue through the season. Then Griffith rushed in with his half-prepared appeal in the Ainsmith case, and a decision which stopped immediately when Secretary Baker gave out his decision. Johnson urged exact compliance with Secretary Baker's ruling. Griffith has opposed all these things and when they spilled the beans by breaking in with the Ainsmith appeal.

THERE will be developments about Sept. 2 which will show that there is more back of this decision to carry on the season until Sept. 2 and then strive to play a baseball season than has yet been made public. Also it probably will develop that this has more to do with the resignation of Tener and the battle of Johnson against his club owners than has been hinted.

THE clubs, however, are still playing ball. The Cubs, chasing that pennant vigorously, swarmed upon Brooklyn and won the opening game in a terrific tie. They beat Jack Combs in the first two innings on a misjudged fly by Mack Wheat and a mess of errors, but the Dodgers rallied back when Tyler wobbled in the heat in the fourth inning. Tyler had made a big blunder and the exertion of scoring one run and making that double sap his strength. He passed two men, Zack ripped off his daily hat, raising his record to twenty-five consecutive games in which he has batted safely, and then Mack redeemed his error of judgment with a
